Choices

Those small town eyes burn holes in her pride at 3 months
They're laughing at school and she knows her future is blown
The bulge in her dress and the fear in her eyes don't conceal much

She asks herself how could this happen
Too young to do this alone

She'll say when anyone asks her
She's brave but growing in fear
She struggles to find the right answer
Keep him or let him go
All she knows
She's all alone

She suddenly cries when somebody pries into her choice
Three years have past and everything living has grown

She'll ask herself over and over
Could she have done this alone

She'll say when anyone asks her
She's brave but lives with her tears
She may never know the whole story
Only knows where it began
And she'll pray
She'll see him again

She'll say when anyone asks her
Was she brave or running in fear
Asks herself over and over
Could she have done it alone
She'll find the answer
If he ever comes home
